A Different Kind of Conference

Are you one of these?
- A new producer contemplating meat goats as the way to a livestock business and rural lifestyle?
- An established meat goat rancher looking for ways to maximize your profitability?
- A cattle rancher looking for an alternative brush control method or a way to employ integrated grazing to utilize the forage your cattle don’t use and increase the total production of your forage base?
- A seed stock producer supplying economically feasible breeding stock to all of the above? If yes, then this conference is designed for you!

There have been several seminars conducted for pure-bred and show-goat producers. Few conferences have specifically targeted producers planning or operating a commercial meat goat enterprise. Oklahoma producers have expressed a need for a conference that covers everyday management and marketing programs necessary for profitability; a conference that addresses budgeting and value of breeding animals using commercial market prices. To learn new strategies for making your meat goat business sound and profitable, attend the 2007 Oklahoma Meat Goat Conference.
